

REPOOL GENERAL DISCLAIMERS

Last Updated: February 16, 2024

Repool, Inc. (“Repool,” “we,” “us,” and “our”) serves as an administrator and software services provider to various pooled investment vehicles. The content on this site, or any associated distribution platforms and public Repool online social media accounts, platforms, and site (collectively, “Distribution Channels”), is provided for information and discussion purposes only, and should not be construed as or relied upon in any manner as legal, business, tax, investment, or other advice. Repool's services and information available on Distribution Channels are not a substitute for third-party professionals (including properly licensed and/or registered lawyers, brokers and tax professionals), and you should seek your own professional advisers, including legal counsel. Repool is not licensed to provide legal advice and is not registered as a broker-dealer or investment adviser, and Repool is not otherwise licensed or registered.

Any views expressed in posted content, such as articles, blogposts, commentary, videos, or social media, are those of individual Repool personnel or third-party authors and are not the views of Repool or our affiliates, unless explicitly stated otherwise. Additionally, with respect to any content or views available on Distribution Channels, Repool makes no representations that the information has been validated by independent, licensed third-parties, nor that such information has any enduring accuracy or appropriateness for any given individual or situation.

Laws and regulations applicable to the sale of securities, forming pooled investment vehicles (including private funds), and investment management (including serving as an investment adviser or commodity trading advisor) are complicated and occasionally ambiguous. Relevant law may come from the state, federal, or international level, and you may be under the regulatory oversight of one or many regulatory bodies such as, but not limited to, the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Commodity Futures Trading Commission. It is your responsibility to ensure that, when forming, offering interests of and managing any pooled investment vehicle, whether supported by Repool’s administrative services or not, you are in material compliance with applicable laws including obtaining any and all applicable licenses, permits, registrations, memberships, and approvals that are required in order to form, offer securities of and manage such pooled investment vehicle. You should not rely upon Repool in making any such determinations or as a replacement for licensed, third-party professionals.

Attention:

Investors or LPs of Repool client funds for whom Repool acts as a third-party administrator or service provider

Contact Repool directly at investorsupport@repool.com to verify if any given pooled investment vehicle that claims that Repool is providing it services is, in fact, a current Repool client in good standing.

Any pooled investment vehicle, its affiliated adviser(s)/investment manager(s), and/or its affiliated general member(s) or special member(s) (each, an “Entity” and collectively, the “Entities”) that Repool provides services to will have engaged Repool for our services pursuant to a Repool Statement of Work (a “Repool SOW”). The existence of a Repool SOW between us and any Entity should not be taken as an endorsement by Repool of any Entity, their investment strategy, adherence to applicable law(s), or any other acts or communications of any kind by the Entities.

Repool SOWs provide that we will not be liable to any Entity nor any investor, limited partner, subscriber, affiliate, or person relating thereto:

- (i) in connection with any third-party claims, except for those which arise from the our gross negligence, willful misconduct, or breach of the Repool Terms and Conditions of Service relating to a given Repool SOW (the “Repool TOS”);
- (ii) if the use of Repool materials in accordance with the Repool TOS infringes or misappropriates any third-party intellectual property rights;
- (iii) for the actions or omissions of any third party, agent, contractor, or other party performing any portion of the Repool services under the Repool SOW unless there is a finding of gross negligence on the part of Repool in appointing such party to perform such service; or
- (iv) for statements, actions, or omissions made in reliance upon instructions from the Entities or advice of legal counsel.

Repool generally has no or limited obligations to investors in or affiliates of the Entities, and Repool generally has no or limited duty to communicate with, support, or answer inquiries from any investors in any Entities except for as provided for in the Repool Terms of Use, available at <https://www.repool.com/legal/terms-of-use/>.

Repool is not a custodian of any Entities’ assets and does not verify the existence, suitability, or legality of any of the investments made by any of our clients. To the extent that any reports, statements, communications, or documents are passed to investors through Repool’s website, website interface, and/or digital platforms, unless Repool makes a statement to the contrary, Repool does not endorse, verify, or otherwise validate any such information.